

OBJECTIVE

My objective is to meet my career goal of being a psychologist. I am very passionate about mental health and helping others and I always put everything I have into my work. I want to work in an environment that will help me grow and utilize the skills I have learned at school and in past work experience. The skills I developed and will continue to develop through these experiences would make me an excellent applicant for a position as a psychologist.

VOLUNTEERING

HOCKEY & SKATING COACH

Note: Being able to work with and teach children and even some people my own age has allowed me to work on my listening and problem solving skills as well as improve my communication skills greatly. You have to be able to handle and deal with issues completely unrelated to the task and help others understand what is essentially "blocking" them from moving forward and addressing those issues. I was able to develop sufficient interpersonal skills through this experience.
